

American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics

Workshop Announcement

Young Professional Career Planning and Development Workshop

The Young Professional Career Planning and Development Workshop

March 31, 2001

at the USA Training Academy

1045 Gemini, Houston, TX

One mile from the NASA Johnson Space Center

This half-day workshop will include career development sessions for young professionals in the NASA JSC community and a motivational speech from Glynn Lunney.

This workshop and its proceedings will focus on areas of career development. Registration and check-in will be from 8:00 - 8:30 a.m. Sessions will be held from 8:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. A lunch will be provided followed by a motivational speech from Glynn Lunney. Glynn Lunney's career spans from work on Mercury, as an Apollo Flight Director, and as management of Apollo-Soyuz Test Project to managing the development of the Space Shuttle and as Vice President of Houston Operations for Rockwell International's Space Systems Division. Various professional organizations will also be present to talk about what their organizations have to offer. The AIAA Houston Section, United Space Alliance, and The Boeing Company sponsors this workshop.

The workshop sessions will include the following topics:

- Financial Planning
- Career Mapping and Performance Appraisals
- Customer Focus (NASA-Contractor Relationships)
- Texas Board of Engineering Certification Process
- Empowerment tools: Mission & Vision, Team Charters, and Rewards
- Managing Change
- Presentation Skills
- Conflict Management

Registrations must be submitted by March 14, 2001

TOTAL COST IS $20.00

For more information visit: <http://www.jsc.nasa.gov/aiaa/CPAD2001>